

Jason Obawemimo

Founder, Obavia. Co-owner and operator, Triple J Auto Investment. Systems, operations and go-to-market.

Founder of Obavia, sales software in development for agency owners, and co-owner of Triple J Auto Investment in Houston. I build the systems underneath a business and then run them, so the work has to hold up on a Tuesday, not in a deck.

EXPERIENCE

Founder

IN DEVELOPMENT

Obavia, Pearland, TX (obavia.co)

- Building Obavia, sales operating software for agency owners at $100K to $1M a month and their setters and closers. It carries a buyer's exact words from the first call to collected cash: Capture, Connect, Book, Discover, Agree, Collect.
- Set the claims boundary before launch: in development, no customer or results claims, integrations listed as planned, demo people and figures fictional.
- Made the two vertical ad films, the free waitlist, prelaunch pricing (Core planned at $3,000 a month) and the hiring page for setters and closers, on Supabase, PostgreSQL, Vercel, Claude, Codex and Model Context Protocol workflows.

Co-Owner and Operator

CURRENT

Triple J Auto Investment, Houston, TX (thetripjauto.com)

- Co-own and operate a used vehicle dealership at 8774 Almeda Genoa Rd: cars, trucks and SUVs with in-house financing, sell and trade valuations, and registration and title support.
- Built Handle a Sale, the sale desk Triple J closes sales on: one plain question at a time, the buyer's license scanned once so every form fills itself, the registration math, the right documents with nothing missing and nothing extra.
- It works in English or Spanish, takes the customer's signature on their phone or in person, and saves every sale on file.
